BOOKING 2027

NOT HIS FIRST TALK — JUST HIS FIRST INVOICE.

For over two decades Seth has been on stage as a senior executive, leadership trainer, and Rotary president — more than 100 presentations in boardrooms, corporate events, and training rooms. About 25 of those have been this talk, since the book came out. What's new isn't being on stage; it's that audiences can finally book him.

FEEDBACK ON THE MESSAGE

YOU MAKE A
LOT OF SENSE.

"Thank you for such a fascinating program. Having taught senior English for many years, I was intrigued by what you had to say. Years ago, I would have strongly disagreed; today you make a lot of sense. I would love for you to come back sometime."

Myra Helms

Indian Trail Rotary Club · former senior English teacher

"Your parenting insights are remarkable. Thank you for sharing your timely message with us."

Jack Shaw

Matthews Rotary Club

"This is a super cool story and I think about your daughters' paths a lot. I've often wondered how my life would have been different if I'd been booted from the house at 18 and started my sales career five years earlier."

Aaron Fullen

Global CRO · father of 18-year-old twins

"I couldn't help but think of ways to present this material to all sorts of audiences — parents, teenagers, young adults, business leaders, educators, and school administrators. I hope you have opportunities to share this work with such groups."

TALK 1

THE PATHBREAKER PARENT

FOR WORKING PARENTS OF TEENS & TWEENS

How to raise self-directed teenagers in a world that still defaults to college.

The conventional path — good grades, the right credentials, college, a career picked at 18 — was supposed to guarantee a good life. For a generation of teenagers it isn't working: the pressure is up, the outcomes are down, and parents are left wondering whether pushing harder is the answer or the problem.

Drawing on 25 years of hiring and leadership — and his own family's story — Seth gives parents a set of different conversations to have with their tween or teen. Not college-or-failure, but direction over pressure: a practical reframe of success that helps a kid choose a path instead of performing on one.

— WHAT ATTENDEES LEAVE WITH

- 01 A reframe of success that drops the college-or-failure binary.
- 02 The one question that changes everything — from "What do you want to be?" to "What do you want to try first?"
- 03 The "happiness formula" — why expectations, not reality, drive a teen's wellbeing.
- 04 Confidence that a different path is not a parenting failure — proven by a real family story (that included a visit to the principal's office).

FORMATS

20-min breakout · 45-min keynote + Q&A · 60-90
min workshop

FOUR WAYS TO BRING IT ON STAGE

The keynote is proven through 25+ deliveries since 2024. The family formats are new for 2027: no one has booked them yet, because no other speaker can offer them. The keynote doesn't change — the family adds to it. If you want the event people still talk about next year, be the first.

SETH SOLO

PROVEN · 25+ TALKS

The keynote: the full framework and family story, delivered solo. Maximum scheduling flexibility, simplest logistics.

SETH & DONNA

NEW FOR 2027

Seth delivers the keynote, then his wife Donna joins for a candid conversation and Q&A about aligning on pathbreaking. Best for parent nights, couples-oriented audiences, and leadership retreats where spouses attend.

SETH & BROOKE

NEW FOR 2027

Seth shares the framework, then sits down with his youngest daughter Brooke — who left college after one semester and built a financially independent, self-directed life. The most emotionally powerful format.
